If one is content about the grade for the first draft, one can take the grade for the first draft as the final grade. If not, one can work on the comments and improve the draft, and we will update grade according to the final draft. (The late penalty of the first draft will be carried on to the final grade!) If one choose to submit a revised version of the paper (highly recommended), the deadline for the final draft is on April 24th midnight (11:59pm). No late submission of the final draft will be accepted.
